CLEAR TECHNOLOGIES NAMES NEW STORAGE SALES EXECUTIVE

"John has tech-savvy business acumen making his skill-set a rare-find in our industry."

Phil Godwin, Vice President of Sales and Marketing, Clear Technologies

FRIDAY, MAY 23, 2011: COPPELL, TX USA: Clear Technologies announces the appointment of John David Culp as Account Executive / Storage Specialist. Culp joined the Sales Technical team May 16, 2011.

In his new position, Culp will be responsible for new account sales with a focus on storage and Clear's SaaS storage analysis product, Visual Storage Intelligence™. "We excited to have John on our team. John truly has the right mix of being both a 'techie' and 'business executive' – both of which enable him to acutely understand storage-related issues and deliver reliable and affordable storage solutions." said Phil Godwin, Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

Culp brings over 13 years of complex storage and price performance experience to his new position including former positions as: North American Business Development for ONStor at LSI, Western Region Sales for ONStor at LSI Western Region, Sales Engineering Manager at ONStor, Pre-Sales Engineer ONStor, and Technical Business Consultant for Celerra at EMC. He is certified in the following areas: IBM Storage, EMC Proven Professional, AIX Sys Admin, and Brocade. Additionally, Culp is an active member of several IT User Groups in the DFW area.
